

Tim Bryan and Matt Nethaway

Tim has over 18 years of professional experience and is the Partner in charge of the Forensics practice at Crowe. Additionally, he leads Crowe's Forensic Technology Services practice which includes Data Breach Incident Response, eDiscovery, and Digital Forensics services. Tim served on the AICPA Forensic and Litigation Services (FLS) Committee which provides guidance and tools for CPA professionals who practice in the forensic accounting field. He was also the Chair of the FLS Forensic Data Analysis Task Force.

Matthew Nethaway has more than 20 years of experience and is an Audit Partner for Crowe's Assurance and Financial Advisory Group in the California public sector services assurance practice, directing the audit process for governmental entities including school districts, community colleges, cities, other special districts and not-for-profit entities.