

Lost in Space: Managing Financial Data in Light of the California Consumer Privacy Act with Justine Phillips

California is the birthplace of stars, the Internet, and consumer privacy. In 2018, California hastily passed the California Consumer Privacy Act which imposes steep fines and penalties on companies for failing to comply with sweeping privacy laws and implement reasonable security by January 1, 2020.

Learn the importance of cultivating hybrid professionals that understand both accounting and cybersecurity, and how information governance is the North Star for enterprise risk management.